

Team Leaders for the Halogen-Network Teaching Entrepreneurship Programme

About Network for Teaching Entrepreneurship (NFTE) Programme

The NFTE programme teaches skills relevant to the real world, motivating students to stay in school. Students will learn to recognise opportunities for success all around them, and graduate with the necessary presentation, leadership, and problem-solving skills for continuing their education and contributing to the economy by either running their own businesses or joining the workforce. The strong financial literacy skills that students learn help them to make and manage money.

Halogen's role is to empower them to step up over the duration of the camp and see transformation as we leverage entrepreneurship education to enhance social mobility.
