

BIC 4389 Capstone: "World Cultures 2025"

Fall 2024

Drs. Mark Long and Charles McDaniel

Tuesday-Thursday: 2:15-3:30pm

What world will you step into when you graduate? What challenges will you confront in the year 2025? This seminar-style Capstone will engage moral debates surrounding global capitalism, the brave new world of gene editing, and the threats of white nationalism and jihadism. Your ideas will be incorporated in the latter part of the course by way of student-led seminar discussions. By taking this Capstone, students will better comprehend the moral foundations of the emerging global order, as well as its marked challenges, to more effectively prepare for their future professional roles and the responsibilities of global citizenship.
