

Listening

My mom really likes drink tea, Also she loves by a different kind of tea cup. At first she buys a set of a tea cup. But later she starts to make her own set. We always buy a tea cup when we travel to the different place. And some of those single cups get along well with each other. My mom and I will go out to try too find the cup fit with them.

I always like to gossip with my mom every time I go back home. We will watch an episode and she will make tea for me while I was talking. We were more like a friend. She was also kind of interesting about what fun thing is happening around me. She never told me what should I do. But she always guides me and let me do my own choice. I asked my mom to give me a set of cup when I leave home this time. I want to make tea to the person wants to share their story with me. And I will listen to them.
