

Romantic in Hospital

I found this on my hand when I woke up in the hospital. I used to have a flower ring for 3 years. But when I touch it I found it turned to a new one.

I went to emergency room by myself the day before I got this ring. I keep vomiting until I was so tired and lost all my sense. Feeling the voice of the doctor started to be far away from me. My mind was unclear and I even cannot remember when my boyfriend came.

The edge of the leaves are more sharpe but they were more shinning compare to my old rings. That's the first feeling while I touch it. And I notice there are two suitcase in-front of my bed. I saw he lay on the small couch. At that moment I badly want to cry. Starting to be like a kids. They won't cry when they just fell on the ground. They started to cry when their parents saw them fell on the ground. I don't know is that because I feel better so I have energy to cry. Or I'm acting like a kids.