

WORKSHOP: HOW TO EXPLAIN YOUR RESEARCH IN 3 MINUTES OR LESS

Wednesday, March 16, 2022
1:00 pm-2:30 pm
Crosland Tower, Room 4160

Are you an international graduate student who has often been asked to explain your research? Do you feel confident that you could communicate complex, technical concepts in concise, clear English to a general audience in 3 minutes or less? Attend this workshop to learn to construct and deliver an impromptu presentation about your research. The workshop will help you to simplify your message and create a compelling story that can engage your listeners. You will also have the opportunity to attend a 30-minute one-to-one consultation with an English language specialist to practice the delivery of your short presentation and receive individualized feedback.

Refine your message
