Pollinators in the Garden

an Outdoor Art Exhibition in celebration of Earth Day

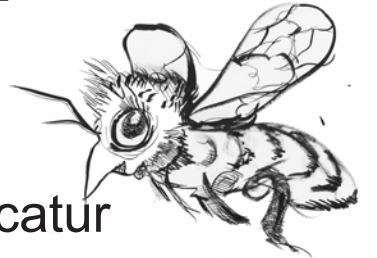

Opening Friday, April 14, 1-3pm

April 14-April 21

Native Plant Botanical Garden

Georgia State University Perimeter College, Decatur

Come take part in a week long exhibition celebrating Earth Day at our Native Plant Botanical Garden.

We seek submissions for outdoor artwork that represents pollinators, beings or activities that spread plant pollen. This could include bees, butterflies, birds, bats, bugs, wind and more.

The mission of the Native Plant Botanical Garden is to educate the public about native plants and temperate ferns by providing a teaching environment.

Pollinators in the Garden is co-sponsored by the Honors College of Perimeter College.

There will be prizes for artwork!
$75 for first place, $50 for second place, and $25 for third place.

Collaborative and site-specific work is encouraged.

Art work must be able to withstand the elements for the entire week.

Please contact Lisa Alembik lalembik@gsu.edu with a written proposal of your submission, along with a jpg of your artwork or a proposal drawing, by March 31. Include your contact information.

The garden is open to the public. Your work will not be insured. Your artwork must remain installed for the duration of the exhibition and should withstand the elements.

To participate in a Wish Tree inspired by Yoko Ono, drop off offering to Clarkston art department office, CF building by April 12. These can be paper, no larger than 5" x 7." You must make a hole in the top for it to be strung up. These will not be returned. What is a Wish Tree?
