

The Cardiovascular Nutrition Research Laboratory at the University of Delaware needs volunteer participants for a research study

We are examining how potassium supplementation may affect the role of salt on blood vessel function.

You may be eligible to participate if you are:

- Between 18-45 years old
- Have normal blood pressure
- Non-smoker in reasonably good health
- Willing to participate in three 10-day controlled feeding trials
- Willing to undergo laboratory testing

*Participants will have their cholesterol checked and their body fat assessed.
Participants will be given all food for 30 days and also be compensated for their time.*
