

Upcoming Research: Statewide coyote ecology and management

Investigating Ohio's coyote population and its relationship with local livestock

The Ohio State University is initiating a multi-year, statewide study of coyote ecology and management, and we need samples from harvested coyotes. If you would like to contribute to our research by providing:

- Whisker
- Tooth
- Tissue

samples, please send us an email at OHcoyote@osu.edu, with your name, contact information, and county.

We will provide additional information and instructions for specimen storage and recovery by our team. Thank you for the important role you play as citizen scientists in wildlife research in Ohio.

Principal Investigator: Dr. Stan Gehrt, Professor and Wildlife Extension Specialist

Questions? Email us! OHcoyote@osu.edu