

Monday, December 10, 2018 | 6:00 P.M. and 8:00 P.M.

Beef Quality Assurance

Training for beef and dairy beef producers
Speaker is Steve Boyles

End users of beef products, including Tyson Foods and Wendy's, are now starting to require producers of that beef to have Beef Quality Assurance Training. They have both announced beginning in 2019 cattle they purchase must originate from producers and feedyards who are Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) certified. Therefore many stockyards and buyers are requiring this training for beef producers who sell to them. Ohio State University Extension, the Ohio Beef Council, the Ohio Cattlemen's Association and Ohio's cattle auction markets and collection points are working together to offer BQA trainings in Ohio. Certification lasts for three years. Producers may take an in-person class or complete the training online at bqa.org.

Location: Auglaize County Administration Building, 209 S. Blackhoof St., Wapakoneta

Cost: Free • Details: Choose one session and register before December 5, 2018

Contact information: Jeff Stachler: 419-739-6580, stachler.1@osu.edu

www.auglaize.osu.edu

OSU Extension Auglaize County

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL, AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

CFAES provides research and related educational programs to clientele on a nondiscriminatory basis. For more information, visit cfaesdiversity.osu.edu. For an accessible format of this publication, visit cfaes.osu.edu/accessibility.