YELLOW SPRINGS, OHIO

AGRARIA

“PUTTING DOWN ROOTS!”

“A NIGHT OF HISTORY, NATURE AND A WAY OF LIFE!”

After 77 years educating people about the importance of small communities to a healthy society, we made a bold move: we bought a farm!

We are putting down roots on Agraria. Now, for the first time, The Arthur Morgan Institute for Community Solutions has a place to demonstrate what it means to develop local self-sufficiency and resilience; a place to showcase soil and ecosystem regeneration; a place to encourage food production and spur re-localization of our economy; a place to regenerate our communities and our relationship with the land.

But our dreams are much bigger than being a good neighbor- we want to be a model that others can visit and be inspired to replicate, while there is still time to get from our unsustainable present to a future where there is hope for our children.

Join us for an evening of community, collaboration and learn how to make a difference in our own community. Arthur Morgan believed that when people were brought together with common goals and ideals they could yield great power for change. Please join us as good stewards of our lands and our history.
