

Summer 2021 Global Teacher Seminar

Global Social Justice Activism and Protests

June 7-18, 2021, Monday-Friday

9:00AM-12:00PM EST

Online via Zoom

This two-week seminar will inform K-12 teachers about global social justice activism and protest movements by focusing on the regions of East Asia, Eastern Europe/Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East. The seminar will give participants a solid foundation in the relevant political, social, and historical theories in order to ground their understanding of protests and politics.

Guest experts will present regional case studies to provide comparative perspectives of what are prominent current protest movements in their region of study, what hurdles activists/protestors experience when organizing events or demonstrations, the longer history and culture of protest in the particular region, how protestors and their movement are perceived in the larger population, and how the demands of activists/protestors are considered and/or met by policymakers and reverberate in the political sphere.

To learn more, please visit the seminar webpage: https://go.osu.edu/gts_2021

Participants will receive:

- Certificate for 3 Continuing Education Units (CEUs)
- Free curriculum resources
- $100 stipend upon completing a revised lesson plan by August 1, 2021

If you have any questions about this professional development opportunity, please contact Alicia Baca (baca.31@osu.edu). To apply for this seminar, please use the link below. Priority registration for this seminar will end on Thursday, April 1st, 2021.

https://go.osu.edu/gts_2021_application

The seminar is organized by the Center for Slavic and East European Studies Center (CSEES) in partnership with the Center for Latin American Studies (CLAS), East Asian Studies Center (EASC), and Middle East Studies Center (MESOC) with support from the U.S. Department of Education Title VI Grants.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY