

Buckeye East Asian Linguistics Forum 2 (2016)

Buckeye East Asian Linguistics Forum 2 provides a platform primarily for students to articulate and exchange ideas on their research findings with forum participants. Both graduate and undergraduate students are welcome to submit abstracts. This year's BEAL Forum is a one-day event with keynote lectures and poster sessions. It is an excellent opportunity to present one's research in a public arena and to receive comments individually. With the exception of keynote lectures, all are poster presentations, thus giving participants ample time for discussion. The forum is intended to showcase regional research activities in East Asian linguistics. The event is free and open to the public.
