

Buckeye East Asian Linguistics Forum 4 (2021)

The Buckeye East Asian Linguistics Forum 4 (BEAL Forum 4) provides a platform primarily for graduate students to articulate and exchange ideas on their research findings with forum participants. It is a one-day event with keynote lectures and students' presentation sessions. Previously, students' presentation sessions were all posters. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, these sessions will, instead, be oral, 15-minute presentations via Zoom. The BEAL Forum is an excellent opportunity to present one's research in a public arena and to receive comments individually. The forum is intended to showcase regional research activities in East Asian linguistics. The event is free and open to the public.

Date: Friday, March 5, 2021

Place: Virtual, via Zoom, The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio

Keynote Speakers: Professors Haruko M. Cook (University of Hawaii), Kang-kwong Luke (Nanyang Technological University, Singapore), Jiwon Yun (Stony Brook University)
