

Project Wingspan: Agricultural Lands & Habitat Management Workshop

FREE in-person workshop for farmers, ranchers, agricultural producers as well as crop and pesticide advisors Thursday, November 2nd, 2023, 9am-4pm

- Granville High School Library
 - 248 New Burg St, Granville, OH
- Field tour at Windy Hill Apple Farm
- A FREE lunch will be provided!

This workshop has been made possible thanks to funding support from the Monarch Joint Venture and the U.S. Forest Service International Programs

Learn about the multiple benefits provided to agricultural lands from integrating pollinator habitat.

The workshop will provide technical guidance to help you create and manage different habitat installation types to support your land, increase productivity, improve soil and water health, and support pollinators!

Pollinator Partnership and Project Wingspan Agricultural Lands, in partnership with the US Fish & Wildlife Service Partners for Fish and Wildlife and Granville Land Lab, invite members of the agricultural community to participate in the upcoming in-person workshop to increase knowledge of practices that both support pollinator conservation and directly benefit agricultural lands!

Topics include:

- Midwestern pollinator biology and ecology, habitat requirements, and their economic importance in agricultural settings
- The benefits realized through co-locating pollinator habitat installations: reduced pests and pest pressure, increased productivity, and increased soil and water conservation, among others
- Technical guidance on creating and establishing various habitat installation types, early and long-term best management practices
- Information on local, state, and federal agencies/organizations that offer technical assistance and financial programs
- A 2-hour guided field tour of farm sites will follow the classroom portion of the workshop to allow participants to talk with farmland managers and to see how habitat is integrated into their operations and management routines

Please bring a lunch and water
