APPENDIX: USEFUL INFORMATION

Getting Around Town

Uber and Lyft are the two main ride-share companies operating in Columbus, along with numerous Taxi companies.

The Central Ohio Transit Authority (COTA) operates buses that connect the whole city, including easy access from the Campus Area (High Street on Bus # 1 and 102, and Olentangy River Road via #31) to the Short North Arts District and Downtown Columbus. $2 per ride or $4.50 per day. Payment can be made in cash (no change given) or via the App. See here for details: <https://cota.com/>.

CoGo is the city's bike-share program with numerous stations around the Campus, Short North and Downtown areas. Downloading the App and linking to payment option is required to use. See here for details: <https://cogobikeshare.com/>

The OSU Campus is very E-scooter friendly, with many scooters available for rental. All require downloading an app and linking with a credit card. The main companies include Lime (can be rented via the Uber App), SPIN, and Bird.

From the Airport: Unfortunately, bus or shuttle service to the airport is NOT a viable option in Columbus at this time of year, and either an Uber/Lyft (typically cheapest) or a Taxi (available at the Taxi Stand at the Arrivals area) are your only options.

WIFI

Free Open-Access WIFI is available Everywhere on Campus. Select the WIFI@OSU network and login as "Guest". The Eduroam network is also available.

Dining Suggestions

For conference-goers staying at hotels on Olentangy River Road, multiple restaurants are located in the shopping center opposite Union Cemetery.

In the main campus area, a range of eateries can be found along High Street south of Lane Avenue.

Finer dining can be had in the many restaurants in the Short North Arts District.

Budd's Dairy Food Hall (1086 N. 4th Street) has multiple eateries under one roof catering to different palettes and budgets.

Excellent Asian food can be found at Tensuke Express, Akai Hana, and Xi Xia Chinese Cuisine on Old Henderson Road, or at any number of spots along Bethel Road west of Olentangy Road.

Local Attractions:

North Market (59 Spruce Street), old downtown farmer's market with food stalls and local artisan goods.

Wilma H. Shiermeier Olentangy River Wetland Research Park (352 W. Dodridge), an Ohio State University wetland restoration site with visitor center, walking trails, and bird-watching platforms.

Olentangy River biking and walking trail. The trail runs the distance from downtown Columbus, past Ohio State University, and north to the town of Worthington.

Columbus Museum of Art (480 E. Broad Street), largest art museum in the city with permanent and temporary exhibitions. See: <https://columbusmuseum.org>

Short North Arts District, lively arts, entertainment, and dining district on High Street between the Downtown and Ohio State University campus.

German Village, quaint historic district south of the downtown anchored by Schiller Park.

Hopewell Ceremonial Earthworks, a complex of sacred Native American sites, recently registered as Ohio's only UNESCO heritage site, located about 45 minutes from campus by car.

Safety and Medical Emergency Information

In case of emergency, call 9-1-1. For non-emergency situations, you may reach the Ohio State University Campus Police at 614-292-2121 (non-emergency) or via email at police@osu.edu.

Visitors to the OSU campus can receive any campus-related emergency alerts via text message by texting OSUGuest2 to 67283 to be enrolled in the alert system for a 48hr period.

The following nearby locations are available for urgent medical care:

Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center (410 W. 10th Avenue, 614-293-3333), Full Service Hospital Emergency Room open 24 hours.

Walk In Urgent Care (1541 N. High Street, 614-732-0002), 8am-8pm M-F, 10am-6pm Sa-Su.

OhioHealth Urgent Care Grandview (895 W. 3rd Avenue, 614-437-0278), 9am-9pm every day.

Conference on Global Coal Transitions

Conference Code of Conduct and Anti-Harassment Policy

In accordance with National Science Foundation (NSF) policy that all NSF-funded research and learning environments (including conferences and workshops) are free from harassment, as well as in accordance of the policies of Ohio State University, all participants in the Conference on Global Coal Transitions are expected to aspire and adhere to the following standards of behavior described below.

A. Principles

- Integrity, and honesty in all aspects of research and professional behavior
- Personal accountability in one's conduct
- Professional courtesy, equity, and fairness in working with others
- Freedom to responsibly pursue science without interference or coercion
- Unselfish cooperation in research and Legal compliance in all aspects of research, including intellectual property

B. Responsibilities

1. Integrity: Conference participants will act with honesty in the interest of the advancement of science, take full responsibility for the trustworthiness of their research and its dissemination, and treat others with courtesy, equity, and fairness.
2. Adherence to Law and Regulations: Conference participants will be aware of and adhere to laws and regulations related to the professional conduct of research.
3. Responsibility: Conference participants will take responsibility for the integrity of their contributions to all publications, funding applications, reports, and other representations of their research and work presented at the conference.
4. Acknowledgement: Conference participants will acknowledge the names and roles of those who made significant contributions to their work or research (such as ideas and scientific discussion).
5. Conflict of Interest: Conference participants will disclose financial, personal, professional, and other conflicts of interest that could compromise the trustworthiness of their work presented at the conference.
6. Public Communication: Conference participants will limit professional comments to their areas of scholarly expertise when engaged in public discussions about the application and importance of research findings and will clearly distinguish professional comments from their opinions based on personal views.
7. Environment: Conference participants are responsible for creating and upholding a safe, open, and professional environment for learning, conducting, and communicating science with integrity, respect, fairness, trustworthiness, and transparency at all organizational levels and in all scientific endeavors.
8. Misconduct: Conference participants will not engage in harassment or bullying.

C. Harassment, Bullying, and Prohibited Behavior

The Conference on Global Coal Transitions prohibits any form of harassment, sexual or in other forms, at conference events or in interactions by conference participants with individuals whom they encounter in connection with their professional roles.

Accordingly, some behaviors are specifically prohibited, whether directed at other conference participants, organizing staff, event attendees, speakers, exhibitors, event venue staff, colleagues, students, and others in connection with conference activities.

Unacceptable behaviors include:

- Physical or verbal intimidation, including threats, stalking, or unwelcome following;
- Any conduct that is harassing, abusive, discriminatory, or intentionally demeaning of a person by any attendees at the event and related event activities;
- Personal attacks or other behavior during disagreements or in discussions;
- Offensive verbal comments related to gender, sexual orientation, race, religion, national origin, gender identity, or disability;
- Inappropriate use of nudity and/or sexual images in public spaces (including presentation slides);
- Harassing or intimidating photography or recording;
- Sustained disruption of talks or other events; and
- Unwelcome physical contact or sexual attention, including unwelcome sexual flirtations, advances, or propositions; unwelcome verbal comments or physical actions of a sexual nature; sexually degrading words used to describe an individual; an unwelcome display of sexually suggestive objects or pictures; sexually explicit jokes; and offensive, unwanted physical contact such as patting, pinching, grabbing, groping, or constant brushing against another's body.

Conference participant conduct that violates this Policy may result in the conference participant's (or participants') disinvitation from all conference events and spaces.

D. Reporting Violations to this Policy

If you need immediate help, or in case of an emergency, you may call 911. For non-emergency situations, you may reach the Ohio State University Campus Police at 614-292-2121 (non-emergency) or via email at police@osu.edu.

Conference attendees wishing to report an allegation of discrimination, harassment or retaliation, including sexual harassment or sexual assault, may file a complaint with Ohio State University's Office of Institutional Equity online at equity.osu.edu or Call 614-247-5838 or TTY 614-688-8605, or email equity@osu.edu, or may contact the National Science Foundation's Office of Diversity and Inclusion at programcomplaints@nsf.gov.

Ohio State University's Office of Institutional Equity investigates alleged violations of its policies, recommends or takes interim actions where needed, and facilitates any required notifications to the NSF Office of Diversity and Inclusion, the Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights, and other external agencies as appropriate.
