

Academic & Professional English Workshop for Post Docs

Communication solutions for your needs

The Ohio State University's spoken English workshop is open to international post docs looking to improve their presentation and networking skills.

You will meet once a week for two hours with an experienced instructor to practice and develop your spoken English through lively lectures and performance-based activities.

The course incorporates a blend of applied improvisation and traditional language teaching to create a dynamic and productive classroom. This course is recommended for anyone trying to better their English skill and academic presence.

Be prepared to be on your feet & speak a lot

Learn the following skills:

- Public speaking confidence
- Presenting on current research
- Networking and small talk
- Pronunciation, grammar and fluency
- Autonomous learning strategies

You'll also receive helpful feedback from your instructor and your peers on your performances.
