BIENNIAL iPADS IN HIGHER EDUCATION CONFERENCE

March 16-18, 2016
McLaren Conference Center
University of San Francisco
2130 Fulton Street, San Francisco

An aerial photograph of San Francisco, California, showing the city's dense urban landscape, the Golden Gate Bridge in the distance, and the bay. In the foreground, a person's hands are visible holding a black iPad, which displays a similar aerial view of the city. The iPad's camera interface is visible at the bottom of the screen.

WELCOME MESSAGE

Welcome to the second biennial International Conference on the Use of iPads in Higher Education! We are excited and honored to be continuing the tradition initiated at Paphos, Cyprus, two years ago.

We welcome you also to the campus of The University of San Francisco, one of 28 Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States. The mission of USF is to change the world from here. Your participation in this conference helps to accomplish that mission. San Francisco is a dynamic, picturesque, cosmopolitan, world-class city, perched on the tip of a peninsula and surrounded by a bustling metropolitan area that includes centers of learning, finance, industry, entertainment, and of course technology. We have worked to design a conference experience that will showcase iPad implementation activities across a spectrum of settings and disciplines from classroom practices in law and language, to fieldwork sites in the sciences, to studio-based work of artists and designers.

You will learn from the individual perspectives of faculty, the departmental and program perspectives of service providers and support professionals, and the overarching plans and experiences of campus-wide educational leaders. The conference complements the formal presentation of research activities with inspiring keynote speakers and practical hands-on workshops and demonstrations of iPad apps.

Throughout the conference, there will be informal times during which attendees are encouraged to share their iPad experiences, successes, and challenges. We hope you will make connections with new colleagues and renew existing relationships. There will be opportunities to join in research activities and collaborate in exploring ways in which the iPad can better support many types of educational activities.

We are very pleased that you have joined us at the conference, on our campus, and in our city!

ABOUT IHE

'ihe' began in 2011, when the 'Art + Design: elearning lab' started investigating the use of iPads in art and design education.

In 2011, there was minimal empirical research on the use of iPads in HE, and the need was identified to provide a platform through international conferences, workshops and other related educational and appropriate academic events, for the dissemination of research on the use of iPads in Higher Education. The 'ihe' steering committee comprises members of the original group, plus an additional member from the hosting institution that organizes the forthcoming 'ihe'. This additional member has a two-year term and the position is renewed after the completion of the biennial conference.

University of San Francisco Steering Committee:

John Bansavich, Chair
Director of Learning Technologies
Adjunct faculty, Digital Technologies for Teaching and Learning.

Benjamin Baab, Co-Chair
Adjunct faculty, School of Education

Ken Yoshioka
Mobile, Media, and Training Specialist

Michelle Ruiz
Online Education Designer and Trainer

MyCSUNtablet: Enhancing Teaching and Learning in the Digital Age

Wednesday, March 16th 4:00 pm

In Fall 2013 California State University embarked on a 1:1 iPad initiative named myCSUNtablet, the first of its kind in the California State University system. By Fall 2015, more than 8,000 students had enrolled in a tablet class in one of eight majors. Student learning outcomes have improved through techniques such as active learning, multimedia creation, and use of faculty-authored digital textbooks which replaced expensive textbooks. Associate Vice President of Academic Technology, Deone Zell, will share the story of the initiative and its evolution, along with video clips from participating faculty and students.

Dr. Deone Zell

Dr. Deone Zell is the Associate Vice President for Academic Technology at California State University, Northridge (CSUN) where she leads initiatives that enhance teaching and learning through technology.
