Seminar Spotlight

Doriane Miller, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine & Director, Center for Community Health and Vitality, at University of Chicago Medicine presented “So what’s up with that hospital called Provident on 51st Street.” The presentation addressed the Black hospital movement, with a focus on the South Side of Chicago. Following the presentation, students discussed how this history connects to their work and studies today. Students shared their experiences addressing biases in the healthcare industry. Student experiences showed that sometimes the delivery of healthcare has less to do with care, and more to do with the social, environmental, and educational opportunities.

Thursday, Nov 21: IPR Distinguished Lecture - Child Health as Human Capital

Fall 2019 Distinguished Public Policy Lecture: "Child Health as Human Capital" by Janet Currie, Henry Putnam Professor of Economics and Public Affairs and Co-Director of the Center for Health and Wellbeing, Princeton University

Child health is increasingly understood to be a critical form of human capital, but only recently have we begun to understand how valuable it is and how better to support its development. This lecture by Janet Currie, the Henry Putnam Professor of Economics and Public Affairs at Princeton University, provides an overview of recent work demonstrating the key role of public insurance in supporting longer-term human capital development, as well as pointing to improvements in child mental health as an especially important mechanism.

Currie is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, National Academy of Medicine, and American Academy of Art and Sciences. She has written about early intervention programs, programs to expand health insurance and improve healthcare, public housing, and food and nutrition programs. Her current research focuses on socioeconomic differences in child health and environmental threats to children's health.

RSVP is required by Monday, November 18.

Saturday, Jan 25, 2020: Kellogg Business of Healthcare Conference: Building the New Healthcare Ecosystem: Applying Unconventional Perspectives to Examine Failure, Success, and What's Next

As new business models, investment strategies, and technologies continue to change our healthcare system, which leaders will emerge to deliver meaningful solutions for healthcare's most complex challenges? Among the many promising efforts and initiatives, which will gain traction or phase out? This conference will explore how unconventional perspectives are enabling innovation, and debate whether this innovation will truly transform health. More information can be found here.
