GPHAP Seminar on Structural Inequities in Health Care

GPHAP is implementing a new Seminar series to bring students together for interdisciplinary conversations about important health care issues. We realize it is a long time to wait before connecting through the required classes in the Spring Quarter. In future years, we will make the seminars a required part of GPHAP. For now, attendance is strongly encouraged. The seminar counts as a GPHAP co-curricular.

We are pleased to announce the speaker for our first seminar: Doriane Miller, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine & Director, Center for Community Health and Vitality, University of Chicago Medicine

Dr. Miller will present, "So what's up with that hospital called Provident on 51st Street." The presentation will address the Black hospital movement, with a focus on the South Side of Chicago. Following the presentation, students will discuss how this history connects to their work and studies today, and our role in addressing structural inequities and structural racism in health care.

Student Profiles

For all incoming students, please submit the student profile to Canvas. The template was emailed to students (or in the Modules on Canvas). Returning students only need to submit a profile if they would like to update their previous information or if you haven't completed one yet.
