Announcements

The Center for Health Administration Studies is pleased to announce the recipient of the CHAS Predoctoral Dissertation Award for 2012_2013, Rebecca Feinstein Winitzer. Ms. Winitzer is a licensed clinical social worker, holds a M. S. from Harvard University and a M. S. W. from Boston University. Her dissertation research focuses, in part, on how social networks function to influence health care decision-making and impact access to health care services for children with special health care needs.

CHAS is also pleased to announce the recipients of the CHAS Seed Grant Awards for 2012_2013: Alida Bouris, Dexter Voisin, and Miwa Yasui. Alida Bouris: "Family and school engagement to protect gay youth of color from HIV"; Dexter Voisin: "Factors that mediate and moderate the relationship between community violence exposures and risky sex among African American adolescents"; and, Miwa Yasui: "An exploratory study of cultural pathways of engaging in mental health treatment among Asian and Latino immigrant families".

CHAS Research Tool Kit

CHAS is developing a Research Tool Kit to provide resources that may be of assistance in the preparation of research proposals and presentations. This toolkit will change over time and add new resources to meet your needs. Send your ideas for additions to the toolkit to jesberg@uchicago.edu
