

Reporting Misconduct - Where Should You Report Your Concern?

This flow chart is intended to be followed sequentially. If you report misconduct that contains more than one type of allegation, such as sexual harassment and abusive conduct, you should report both concerns to the first office listed. That office will review all policy violations alleged (e.g., if sexual harassment and abusive conduct are alleged, Title IX will review both allegations) and refer or inform other appropriate offices of the matter as necessary.
