Discussion

Do they have any funds dedicated to their performances?

Answer: The Choral Association Budget includes their programming.

Overall, I think that it is great that they are finding ways to adjust how they function as a group within COVID-19, but I don't understand why they aren't reallocating their funds from programming. In their presentation it seems like they want to do this to replace their live performances.

Response: Yes, that makes sense; However, the timing makes it easier for them to do it this way rather than having them go through the Choral Association treasurer.
